Happy Half-Way Point of Summer!

We are 6 weeks in and a little over 5 weeks to go! Summer is flying by in my house. I am sure you are all enjoying some rest from projects, papers and tests. Hopefully, you are spending some time with our great philanthropies and knocking out your hours while making some people and puppies smile! At our June 18th meeting at SWM we had 40 girls and 6 moms doing a LOT of work! The people at SWM had some serious smiles on their faces that day because of the girls in the purple polos! As you continue to volunteer remember this...

- You MUST watch your email for service opportunities. Not just moms, but each girl should be responsible for checking their emails. Make it a daily habit! And, if you sign up to be somewhere try to be there. If you have to cancel you must give 48 hours notice or find your replacement. These places depend on us, let's not let them down! (AND check the Sign Up Genius often as cancellations happen and you can fill someone's spot!)
- Once you have been trained you can also find service opportunities by using that great binder we gave each of you. Look at the sheets for each philanthropy and send an email to the contact listed. Most girls with a lot of hours are getting them this way by asking the contact if they could use any help on the days they are available. They will use you! And some places may not have official training, so just contact them.
- AND...remember to check the service calendar at www.legacyleagueinc.org (password: unlock)

Enjoy the rest of July and we will see you at the August meeting! - Lindsey and Sandy Peng
